Supporting your RESEARCH

Research support

Librarians are your personal link to the Library. They provide customized support for your research with one-on-one consultations. Contact your subject specialist, visit: library.ubc.ca/subjectlibrarians

Scholarly communications

As a scholar, author and/or editor you have a key role to play in scholarly communications. To learn more about how to manage your copyright, retain your rights as an author, make your publications open access and maximize the impact of your research, visit: scholcomm.ubc.ca

Open Educational Resources (OER)

The Library provides support for OER development, including identifying resources, consulting on open licensure, supporting publishing platforms, and sharing OER in repositories. Learn more at: scholcomm.ubc.ca/open-scholarship/open-education ciRcle

ciRcle is UBC's open access digital repository for research and teaching materials created by the UBC community and its partners. ciRcle welcomes research and teaching materials from faculty, students and staff. Share your research and teaching materials with the world via circle.ubc.ca

Licenses and you

Check out UBC's Digital Classroom FAQs for guidance in using internet materials for educational purposes.

The Library licenses many electronic resources from publishers, such as eBooks, eJournals, image databases and streaming media. Check the permitted uses from the Library's License Information Database before you use materials: licenses.library.ubc.ca

Research data management

The Library provides valuable information and resources related to UBC's research data management strategy. If you are producing, reusing, or interested in preserving and sharing your research data, and mint DOIs, visit: researchdata.library.ubc.ca

Supporting your TEACHING

Learning and Research support for students

The Chapman Learning Commons offers learning support for students, including writing assistance. A comprehensive equipment lending program is available at the Help Desk and multimedia software is available to support a variety of assignments. learningcommons.ubc.ca

The Canaccord Learning Commons provides support for all UBC Sauder School of Business students - including BCom's, MBA's, MBAN's, MM's, B+MM's, PhD's, DAP, and all other degree programs - with learning support services, resources, and opportunities to hone the skills that will make them successful in the classroom and in the working world. mybcom.sauder.ubc.ca/clc

The Research Commons is a multidisciplinary hub that supports research endeavours and provides training in research-enabling skills for faculty, instructors, and students. The Research Commons embraces both new and traditional exploratory scholarship and provides services, software, and expertise. researchcommons.library.ubc.ca

Open Collections

The Library's Open Collections include digital photos, books, newspapers, maps, videos, theses and more. Collectively, they document a diverse range of people, places and events, and are constantly growing to reflect the research interests of the UBC community and beyond. Take your research to the next level: open.library.ubc.ca

Use the Open Collections Research API to create and run powerful queries, perform advanced analysis, and build custom views and widgets. open.library.ubc.ca/research

Library Online Course Reserves (LOCR)

OpenAthens

To access library electronic resources, log in to OpenAthens with your CWL anytime from anywhere. For details, see the OpenAthens LibGuide: guides.library.ubc.ca/connect/openathens

Course integrated instruction

Librarians can collaborate with you to produce course-specific and assignment-specific research guides, create online tutorials or deliver in-person or online instruction sessions. To contact your subject specialist, visit: library.ubc.ca/subjectlibrarians

Teaching and learning

To enhance learning outcomes for students while offering greater access to resources and services, the Library provides faculty with a variety of supports to develop flexible learning classroom environments. These include discipline-specific research and instructional support, digital collections, copyright services and much more. Learn how UBC Library can support your classroom: about.library.ubc.ca/teaching

Copyright

Copyrighted materials are everywhere - you produce them, and you use them, everyday.

What you can and can't do under copyright law is essential knowledge for all UBC faculty, staff and students - both as responsible global citizens, and as responsible teachers, researchers, creators and students. Infringing copyright is a serious matter, but the Library is here to help.

Find information about copyright law, UBC's requirements and contact information for the team of professionals who can assist you: copyright.ubc.ca
